

Psychosocial awareness

What is a psychosocial risk?

A psychosocial hazard at work refers to any occupational issue that could cause psychological harm. Examples of this can include:

- Workplace conflict
- Issues with job demands or support
- Bullying and harassment
- Violence and aggression, or traumatic events.

How can I help?

Report the risk in your workplace.

Learn more about psychosocial risks and resources by scanning the QR code

Visit: eml.com.au

